

When vampires fall in love

People love to be frightened by vampires. They are the most fascinating creatures in horror stories. They suck blood with their pointed teeth, fly like bats, sleep in coffins, live forever and are usually evil.

5 Stephanie Meyer has written books about vampires, but hers are different. They are incredibly beautiful, intelligent and kind and they control their desires<sup>1</sup> for human blood, feeding on wild animals instead. Like the vampires in other stories, they have strange powers and enormous physical strength, but they want to live among hu-
10 mans and sometimes fall in love with them.

The idea for Twilight, the first book in a series, came to Stephenie Meyer in a dream. In it, she saw a teenage girl talking to a beautiful, sparkling young man in a sunny meadow. They were in love and the man, a vampire, told the girl how hard it was for him not to drink her blood and kill her. Stephenie
15 Meyer wrote down her dream and then carried on writing, telling the story of the vampire and the girl. She finished the book in just three months.

That must have been difficult, because the author also had three young children to look after. She had studied English literature in Utah, but settled down to being a housewife and mother when her first child was born. She 20 had always made up stories but never written one down. "I just didn't think that anyone would want to read them," she said in an interview.

Finally after sending her manuscript to 14 publishers, one of them accepted it – a clever decision. The four books in her series have sold more than 25 10 million copies worldwide and even topped bestseller lists. The film version of Twilight was released in November 2008.

The secret of the books' success is that they deal with vampires in a completely new way. These vampires struggle to control their desires, trying very hard to be good. And there are even parallels to Stephenie Meyer's own life. Because of her strong religious beliefs, she does not drink alcohol, tea or coffee, or smoke and has strict views on sexuality. That is why her vampires are 30 different. They do not drink human blood and there is a lot of romance and passion in the books. The mix of good vampires, bad vampires and human teenagers falling in love with them makes some very exciting and romantic stories.

Now that the author knows how much people like reading her stories, she has plans for a lot more stories. But vampires do not seem to be a challenge any more: "I think I need a break from vampires. I really enjoyed working on my book The Host, doing something totally different. I have several other stories that I've been waiting to work on. At this moment, I'm torn between 40 two, but I'm going to decide on one of them very soon."

Pike Place Market

© thinkstock (Can Balcioglu), München

Born in 1907, Seattle's Pike Place Market is the granddaddy of farmers' markets. Today, it's a major tourist attraction with 200 businesses operating year-round, 190 craftspeople and 120 farmer booths – plus street performers and musicians. Flowers, flying fish, fruit, handmade cheeses, local honey, wine and lots of surprises are around every corner.

Winter, spring, summer and fall, Pike Place Market is open seven days a week, closing only on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

Parking garages in and near the market can be filled early on busy summer days.

So, if you're coming to the Market for Centennial Events this summer, consider coming early in the day. Better yet, leave the car at home and travel by bus.

Another suggestion is to park near the Seattle Center and ride the Monorail downtown.

The Space Needle – Seattle's ultimate 'must see'!

You can't go to Paris without stopping by the Eiffel Tower. And you can't visit Seattle without checking out the view from the world-famous Space Needle. A 41-second elevator ride takes you up 520 feet to the observation deck of the Space Needle, built for the 1962 World's Fair. Enjoy a meal at SkyCity, the restaurant at the top that revolves 360° while you dine. If you dine at SkyCity, a ticket is not required. Complimentary access to the Observation Deck is included with your meal.
