

Lösung

Diese Lösung wurde erstellt von Julia Umschaden. Sie ist keine offizielle Lösung der Senatsverwaltung für Bildung, Jugend und Wissenschaft Berlin und des Ministeriums für Bildung, Jugend und Sport Brandenburg.

Teil I: Hörverstehen

Listening Part 1: Voicemail Messages

Message One:

1. C
2. C

Message Two:

3. B
4. B

Listening Part 2: Radio Ads

5. Ad 1: B an advertisement for diving lessons.
6. Ad 2: C offers the best price for used books.
7. Ad 3: A come to the young scientists' exposition at the university.
8. Ad 4: C how to protect yourself and others from getting the flu.

Listening Part 3: The Globe Theatre

- |         |         |
|---------|---------|
| 9. Yes  | 14. Yes |
| 10. No  | 15. Yes |
| 11. Yes | 16. Yes |
| 12. Yes | 17. Yes |
| 13. No  | 18. No  |

Listening Part 4: Extreme Sports

19. B different objects and places you can jump from.
20. B being under time pressure.
21. C to test his limits.
- 22: A is caused by adrenaline.
23. C both A+B
24. A are a danger for other people.
25. A endanger their lives but for different reasons.

Teil II: Leseverstehen/Schreiben

Reading Part 1: Short Texts

1. B Garreth is looking for haircut models.
2. A You could see this sign in a supermarket.
3. D When entering this building be ready for a security check.
4. B For a new reality TV show MTV is looking for young people who have left school without any qualifications.
5. B When you have six stamps, you will get a reduction.

Reading Part 2: Activities in Edinburgh

- 6./7. E Edinburgh Music Festival;
G Royal Yacht Britannia
- 8./9. C The Museum of Childhood;
D George Street
- 10./11. A Edinburgh Castle;
D George Street
- 12./13. F The Royal Botanic Garden;
E Edinburgh Music Festival
- 14./15. A Edinburgh Castle;
B Our Dynamic Earth

Reading Part 3: Learning from a Scary Guy

16. B him look dangerous.
17. A sold computers.
18. B show phases and events in his life.
19. A changed his life.
20. B explains that hateful speech shows the speaker's character.
21. A of the way he looks.
22. C believes in Scary Guy's message.
23. C was successful with the students.
24. A integrate Scary Guy's ideas into the lessons.
25. C Don't judge a book by its cover.

Writing Part 1: International Work Camp

- (1) Ashley Baker; 17; female
- (2) social care
- (3) English; German
- (4) reading, meeting friends, horseback riding
- (5) South Africa

Writing Part 2: Social Networks

Hi Gloria,

Chin up! In our modern world of tablets, internet and social networking you are not the only one who is confronted with problems like that. So it's important to face up to the risks and opportunities of social networks.

As far as I'm concerned, I also spend some time on sites like Facebook or Twitter, chatting with friends, checking the latest news or watching funny videos. However, I set myself a certain time limit of about an hour and a half to be online. Moreover, I never go online until I've finished my work, so I usually spend my time on the internet in the evenings, between 8 p.m. and 9.30 p.m.

In general, I think social networks are a great invention because they connect people and help them to stay in contact more easily. On the other hand there's the danger of becoming addicted to them – and as far as I can judge it, this is the problem your boyfriend has.

The first thing I think you should do is talk to your boyfriend. It's always good to have an honest conversation. Maybe it would be a good idea to set aside specific times for going online and other times for activities that the two of you can do together. Maybe you could also plan a weekend somewhere else (in the mountains or at the sea), where it's only the two of you and you can spend some quality time together.

All the best and warm regards,

...

Writing Part 3: Two Tickets

Hey...

I've just got a super birthday present – two tickets for an event of my choice. And that's something that we could do together when you are here. Here are the two events I find most interesting.

In your last e-mail you told me that you would like to see something that's typical for our city, Berlin, and learn something about its history. I found out that there is a guided tour through the undergrounds of Berlin where you can take a walk through secret dugouts and old unused roads. You needn't worry that you won't understand the guides because the brochure says that the tour can be taken in different languages. So, in case we do this tour, bring some warm clothes and good shoes for it might be cold down there.

Another idea is to visit the T-Hall in Berlin which offers climbing courses for beginners and advanced climbers. I know you've got some experience of climbing, just like me, so we could do the course together. Just imagine: there are walls up to 12 metres height! If we should get hungry in between, we can go to the bistro there and at the end of the day we can go to the sauna, which is also part of the hall.

Doesn't this sound great? I don't really know how to decide, so it's up to you now:

Which of the two would you like to go to? Tell me what you think.